C) Make a precise of the following passage.

Television is one of the wonders of our age. By turning the switch on a box – like instrument in our own house, We can see events that are happening many miles away. Watching television is like watching a film at the cinema; the only difference is that instead of the large screen at cinema, we have here a small screen, made of glass and fixed to a box which is not much bigger than a radio. We can here music or speech put out from distant studios. We can, with television, watch dramas and films put on at special studios, which we have never visited. The word ‘television’ itself means ‘seeing from a distance’, ‘tele’ is a Greek word meaning ‘at a distance’ and ‘vision’ comes from a Latin word meaning ‘see’.

C) Make a precise of the following passage.

Television is one of the wonders of our age. By turning the switch on a box – like instrument in our own house, We can see events that are happening many miles away. Watching television is like watching a film at the cinema; the only difference is that instead of the large screen at cinema, we have here a small screen, made of glass and fixed to a box which is not much bigger than a radio. We can here music or speech put out from distant studios. We can, with television, watch dramas and films put on at special studios, which we have never visited. The word ‘television’ itself means ‘seeing from a distance’, ‘tele’ is a Greek word meaning ‘at a distance’ and ‘vision’ comes from a Latin word meaning ‘see’.
